Ice Climbing

Ice climbing is the activity of ascending inclined ice formations. Usually, ice climbing refers to roped and protected climbing of features such as ice falls, frozen waterfalls, and cliffs and rock slabs covered with ice refrozen from flows of water.

Locations

Serenity Falls; A frozen waterfall in a beautiful canyon. This waterfall has two tiers, one is 20 feet tall and the other 60 feet. This is a Full Day climb option. With a short 15 minute hike in, we will gear up and work on basic ice climbing skills on the 20 ft. falls before rappelling and climbing the 60 ft. waterfall. Bring a lunch and a 30-40L backpack for this unique climbing experience. Near Marion, MT

Stone Hill; This full day option has beautiful scenery and longer climbs, 40-90 feet!

Directions; After passing through Eureka, turn Left onto Hwy 37 just after the gas station. Stay on Hwy 37 for 16.5 miles. You will pass the Koocanusa bridge and continue 2 miles until you start to see large ice formations on the roadside cliffs.

Bad Rock Canyon; Half Day Ice Climbers will meet here. Just a two minute walk up the hill, you will be at the base of these 30-40 foot tall ice climbs.

Directions; After leaving Columbia Falls heading East on Hwy 2, 1/2 mile past the Montana House of Mystery, there will be a large pullout on the right. This is our meeting spot. If you end up in Hungry Horse you've gone too far.

Backcountry skiing

Our guided backcountry ski and splitboard tours are for experienced skiers looking to safely venture out of bounds. We will be skiing out of the resort area boundary at Whitefish Mtn Resort using ski lifts for access. Skiers and riders are expected to bring their own touring gear and the knowledge to use it. A Whitefish Mountain Resort lift ticket or season pass is required. Full and Half days available.
